EUROPEAN WAR

ENGLAND ALWAYS OUR ENEMY

Ex-Gov. Samuel W. Pennypacker, of Pennsylvania, in an article in the Philadelphia Public Ledger this week presents an able argument as to the conduct of America in the present European war and discusses the probable effect from both the standpoint of victory of the Allies and German success. Mr. Pennypacker's argument and logic is unanswerable and it is significant that the pro-English press have refrained from publishing it or referring to it in any manner. In part he says:

Americans who are not hyphenated by being either Anglo-Americans or German-Americans ought seriously to seek the correct solution of two fundamental queries, and to decide what result will for the future most benefit mankind, and what course of conduct will most benefit their own country.

Should the Allies win it would mean that Russia would come west in Europe. England has already promised her the possession of Constantinople as a means of reaching the Mediterranean. How is that result going to be helpful either to Europe or to the world? Russia already occupies the half of Europe and the half of Asia with more territory than she can utilize and with more people than she can provide for properly or civilized. Does the possible substitution of the Slav and Cossack for the German promise improvement or retrogression? In truth, looking at the matter broadly and with a view to the welfare of humanity in the management of mundane affairs, there ought to be a union of all branches of the Teutonic race, Germany, Holland, England, the United States, Sweden, Norway and Denmark, for the advancement of the interests they have in common and for the protection against the inroads, first of the Slav and then of the Mongol. The English are only a tribe of Germans, who in the sixth century found their way across the North Sea to their island home. Their supreme sin in this war has been that they have proven faithless to their race and have cohabited with the heathen and the stranger in order to gain help in a household quarrel.

Spencer and Darwin long ago pointed out that the struggle for existence is most fierce between those species which are closely allied in blood. Britain is hostile to us because she knows that we both want the same things. She showed that hostility when she burned our Capitol, when she sent out the Alabama and Florida to prey on our commerce, when she with Russia drove Shuster out of Persia, and when she prevailed with Mr. Wilson and Elihu Root to surrender our sovereignty over the Panama Canal. In this way by maintaining a real neutrality and indicating a proper sympathy with a sturdy and capable people, struggling for existence against seemingly overwhelming numbers of British, French, Serbians, Belgians, Italians, Russians, Algerians, Japanese and Hindus we might have made a friend among the nations. It would seem that the very meanness of giving support to such a combination would have been resented by America and England. Instead it may as well be recognized that we have so managed as to retain the old rivalries of Great Britain, and to make another enemy of Germany. Professing to fear the German military spirit, we have done all that it has been possible to do to bring her wrath upon our heads. We have been boisterous in our condemnation of Germany. We have hidden out of sight and condoned the far more grievous offenses of Great Britain. In all of our history Germany has never crossed our path. We have never made a step forward that the British have not endeavored to thwart. Let no man fail to observe that in those matters affecting ourselves where we have given blame to Germany in this war her efforts were being directed against her enemies and the injury to us was incidental, but that on the other hand the injuries inflicted by the British have been directed against us. The British have closed the North Sea to our commerce. They have used our flag to cover their beligerent efforts and thus given an appearance of justification to assault upon boats sailing under our colors. They have blockaded our ports, seized our vessels and confiscated the cargoes. Gen. Grant informed France that we would regard the hovering of beligerent men-of-war around our ports as an "unfriendly act" but we have forgotten American traditions and have become like the quack doctor in the old French play, who said, "the heart used to be on the left side, but all that we have changed." They and their Allies have dared to overhaul our boats in the high seas and carry away men found on them. We fought the war of 1812 to prevent such aggression, and some of us well remember the attitude of the British when Wilkes seized the rebel emissaries, Mason and Slidell, a British boat carrying them on their errand of destruction to American nationality. Confronted with such facts we have shown the teeth of a tiger toward Germany in her time of stress, and coaxed our objections to the British with our blandest notes. We have supplied the British with the means of conducting their warfare. We have been silly enough to lend them the money to pay for the munitions they buy from us. Our press in connection with such events as the sinking of the Lusitania, and the execution of the treacherous nurse, has not hesitated to use the ugly word "murder" in senseless fashion. Mr. Wilson notified the Americans who had been invited to Mexico and had there invested their substance and taken their families to leave the country. He had no word for those Americans who heedlessly went on board the Lusitania, and being on the vessel of a beligerent, loaded with munitions of war, lost their lives. It would have been a warning given before and not after the event, and might have saved them from the results of their indiscretion, but he failed in his duty.

If the British win this war they will tighten their hold on the seas, where they even now threaten New York and our whole coast. The Cossack will be in Constantinople and perhaps in Berlin, and the Japanese, their ally, who they have agreed must be satisfied before peace is made, will be crossing the Pacific. What good will all this do to America, even though Schwab, du Pont and Morgan are more wealthy?

If the Germans win, then in all probability Canada, with the Great Lakes, the St. Lawrence river and the Manitoba wheat fields, which the British wrenched from us in the Democratic days of Polk, will enter the union of the States. Canada will be unable to protect herself in any other way and can do no otherwise. What Charles Carroll tried to accomplish during the Revolution and would have succeeded in doing had it not been for the Canadian dislike of the Puritans of New England will have been realized and the hope of Washington and the patriots who founded the Government will be fulfilled. When that time comes, and it may come, the United States of America will occupy a continent and its representative institutions dominate the destinies of mankind. Its system of government with this royalty which has become an anachronism, will soon be adopted by Great Britain. And we shall owe our disenchantment upon the seas and our relief from a danger which has often threatened us in the North, not to our own foresight and endeavors, but to those of Germany.

HAVE HARD TIME.

Division Y. A. O. H. met on Thursday night of last week only on a small attendance, due largely to illness of members and other reasons. This division has had a hard year, paying out all its income for sick and death benefits. In view of the depleted treasury it was voted to notify all members to be present at the meeting next Thursday night, when action must be taken and the future policy of the division decided upon. This state of affairs is said to be largely due to the non-attendance of members. President Mark Ryan has invited County President Connelly to be present, and he will install the officers.

BERTRAND CLUB ELECTS.

At a meeting of the Bertrand Athletic Club Monday evening the following officers were elected to serve during the present year:

President—William P. Kelly.

Vice President—Walter P. Meagher.

Recording Secretary—Ray Hargan.

Financial Secretary—Leo P. Reilly.

Treasurer—George C. Fitzgibbons.

Sergeant-at-Arms—Thomas R. Hehn.

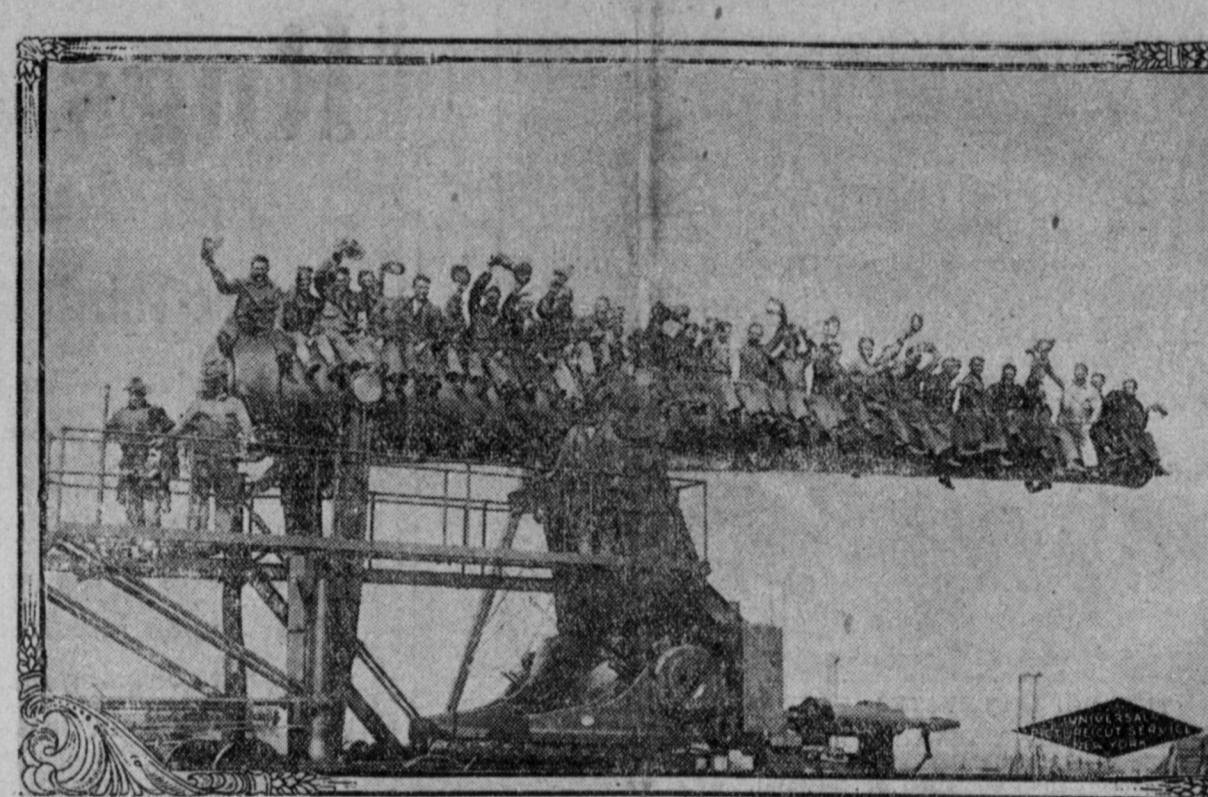

It is the purpose of the club to again put a strong team in the Twin City Baseball League and also develop material for the different athletic events in this city. Some are of the opinion that it would be wise "preparedness" for the club to begin enrolling school youths, and with early athletic training have the nucleus of a splendid athletic organization.

AMALGAMATED.

At the December meeting Branch 5, C. K. of A. of St. Boniface parish, voted to consolidate with Branch 6 of St. Martin's, and the union took place at the first new year meeting of the latter. There was an attendance that well filled St. Martin's Hall, and the proceedings were marked by enthusiasm and the best of feeling. President Oscar Maier welcomed the members of Branch 5, hearty responses were made by a number of its old leaders, who were rejoiced that the two branches were one. Treasurer Falk and Secretary Hoffman endorsed the action, which greatly increases the membership of Branch 6, for years the largest in this section of the country. The business was followed by a social hour, when congratulations were exchanged and refreshments and a collation were enjoyed.

PICTURES AND SMOKER.

The first of a series of monthly gatherings of the Holy Name Society of St. Louis Bertrand's church was inaugurated Tuesday evening in Bertrand Hall with a smoker and moving pictures, embracing prominent scenes in Europe and humorous sketches. Rev. Father Lyons, chaplain of the Holy Name Society, announced that at these monthly meetings entertainment and instructive lectures would be given and through these gatherings the members would become better acquainted.

WELFARE

Associated Activity for the Advancement of the General Good.

Duty for the Catholic Members of the State and Community.

Noteworthy Action Taken by Toronto Catholics Watched With Interest.

POLITICS MUST BE AVOIDED

The public welfare is certainly the concern of all. Particularly is there a duty for the Catholic members of a State or community to turn their attention to the problems with which that State or community has to deal. They can contribute much toward the solution of these problems because of the stability which ordinarily characterizes the Catholic population. In the midst of the pressing necessities of present day social conditions this is all the more important. Plus X, in fact, in his encyclical on "Christian Social Action" points in an especial manner to this obligation on the part of Catholics to participate in the discussion of public affairs. "It is certain," he says, "that the present constitution of States offers to all without distinction the power of influencing public opinion, and Catholics, while recognizing the obligations imposed by the law of God and the precepts of the church, may with safe conscience enjoy this liberty and prove themselves capable as much as and even more than others of co-operating in the material and civil well-being of the people, thus acquiring that authority and respect which may make it possible for them to defend and promote a higher good, namely that of the soul."

Sister M. Herberta, for thirty-six years a member of the Ursuline Sisterhood, died Saturday morning at the convent on East Chestnut street. She was a native of Newport, where she leaves one sister. The funeral was held Monday morning at the convent chapel, the burial being in St. Michael's cemetery.

Martin Donahue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Donahue, 907 East Chestnut street, succumbed Tuesday to tuberculosis, from which he had long suffered. Besides his parents one brother, Patrocinio John Donahue, and three sisters survive him. His funeral was held Thursday morning from St. John's church, where he had long been regular attendant.

The funeral of Patrick J. Welsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Welsh, 437 South Twenty-eighth street, occurred Tuesday morning from St. Cecilia's church, attended by many friends and associates. Deceased was twenty-two years old, and until stricken by pneumonia had been in perfect health. Friends and neighbors feel most sincere sympathy for the bereaved parents.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Flossie Lanahan O'Daniel were held Wednesday morning at Sacred Heart church, Rev. Patrick Walsh celebrating the solemn requiem mass. Mrs. O'Daniel suffered a lingering illness since the death of her husband in a railroad wreck, and passed peacefully away Monday night at her home, 951 South Seventeenth street. Left to mourn her death are two children.

Miss Mary Naughton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Naughton, 1216 West Oak street, passed away Sunday morning after an illness of three weeks. Besides her parents three brothers, Thomas, Joseph and Martin Naughton, and two sisters, Misses Julie and Edna Naughton, survive her. She was a devout member of St. William's church, from where the funeral was held Tuesday morning, Rev. Father George Connor celebrating the requiem mass.

Mrs. Margaret Leamey, the aged mother of Lieut. Michael J. Leamey and Miss Leanne Leamey, and one of the pioneer members of St. Louis Bertrand's parish, was called to her eternal reward on Tuesday, following a short illness at her home, 839 South Seventh street. Mrs. Leamey was of a kindly nature and was held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends and neighbors. Her funeral was held Thursday morning with requiem high mass at St. Louis Bertrand's.

Branches are to be organized in all the wards of the city and to keep in close touch with all the Catholic voters in their vicinity. Municipal measures are to be carefully studied and an especial effort is to be made to develop public speakers within the association, "so as to fit members to meet their fellow citizens on equal footing in public life." "All questions, measures and grievances," it is also interesting to note, "shall be discussed with the idea in view of the improvement of all classes and creeds that go to make up the population of the city, and matters taken up shall be dealt with in the spirit of broad Catholic charity, without heat, and all personalities and all unfounded statements shall be eliminated."

This work of the Catholic citizens of Toronto will be watched with a great deal of interest. Properly conducted, on the sound basis of true Catholic principles, it should be productive of great good for that municipality. Partisan politics must of course be scrupulously avoided, in our own country such activities have been carried on in a more or less systematic way by the district leagues which the German Catholic societies have organized in various communities and by local Catholic federations. Legislation affecting the welfare of the city has been carefully studied, and that which has been of value has been included. The special improvement fund being raised by Col. P. H. ## EARNING HIS STIPEND.

Thursday morning Henry Watterson turned from his daily vile abuse of the German-Americans for daring to love the country of their fathers to caustic abuse of the Irish-Americans for daring to side with Germany in its struggle against John Bull, the cursed oppressor of all nations. Watterson designates the Irish-Americans of this class as crazy fanatics and traitors in the pay of Germany. It will be remembered that Watterson toured the country several years ago lecturing in behalf of a union of England and America and for this received his pay from Andy Carnegie. Judging from his present writings he is still drawing his little stipend for his traitorous policy in advocating a union with bloody old England, our former, present and future enemy. Another fear of Henry's is that the Irish and German-American vote will prove disastrous to the policies of the unnaturalized. Englishmen here trying to dictate the policy of the United States Government. Irishmen and Germans have never failed Uncle Sam, which is more than can be said for those supporting the allies. Those who have sold themselves for a price are the emissaries of England who in time will become known.

ADVOCATES PUBLICITY.

The Rev. John Talbot Smith, speaking at a recent New York banquet, put in a strong plea for more publicity in the Catholic church. "We are nearly twenty millions strong," he said, "and if Protestants do not understand us, do not know what we are doing and how we are doing things, it is our own fault. We have something to tell the other eighty millions in the United States, and we have nothing to keep from them. The merchant today who does not advertise is lost; no one can dare hide his light under a bushel these days unless he is willing to be swallowed up by wideawake competitors. There is no organization in the world more in need of publicity than the Catholic church. There is no organization of its size which is so shrouded in mystery, so much misunderstood. When Catholics begin to realize that they are behind the times in the matter of publicity, when they come out in the open and tell the world what they are and what they are doing, then and only then will cease those unwarranted and unfortunate attacks upon the church. We want more publicity and we can get it without sacrificing any of our dignity or our worthiness." And the Catholic press is the medium for this needed publicity.

AWFUL CRIME.

Miss Mabel Boardman, President of the American Red Cross, states that the decree of the British Privy Council, in prohibiting the dispatch of relief supplies of any sort for Germany and her allies, is the most inhuman act of the war. It is a crime against humanity. Great Britain's decree prohibiting the sending of rubber goods to Germany prevents the supplying of the field and emergency hospitals with rubber goods and rubber materials so essential in hospital work. Hundreds have died of infection. Some have been physicians and nurses. The latter included some volunteer Red Cross workers from America.

WILSON MUST ANSWER.

"It is absolutely certain," says the Church Progress, "that the Catholic press and the Catholic people of this country will watch with unabated interest developments in our neighbor nation to the south. It is almost as certain that the church in Mexico is going to suffer under the Carranza reconstruction. In that event President Wilson will have to answer for whatever happens. He is responsible for Carranza, and he can not escape responsibility for Carranza's conduct towards the church, towards its priests, towards its religious and toward its property rights."

It is remarkable how many persons (who are in other occupations) feel they could run a Catholic newspaper and make a great success of it, and (especially) please everybody. Says an exchange: "The best baseball players are always in the bleachers."

TAUGHT JUDGE LINDSEY.

Sister Mary Aloysius, for forty-two years in charge of St. Edward's Hall, the school for small boys at Notre Dame University, died on Wednesday, January 12, of pneumonia in the convent infirmary at Notre Dame, and was buried in the convent cemetery at St. Mary's Academy, one mile away. At the solemn requiem mass over the remains the three priests acting were the deceased nun's nephews—Rev. Michael Quinlan and James Quinlan, both of the university faculty, acting as celebrant and deacon respectively, and Rev. Patrick J. Carroll, pastor of St. Joseph's church, South Bend, acting as subdeacon. Rev. John Cavanaugh, C. S. C., President of Notre Dame University, preached the funeral sermon. Sister Aloysius was born in Limerick, Ireland, in 1845. She was the only teacher Judge Ben Lindsey, of Denver Juvenile Court family, ever had.

All waterway traffic was suspended and the inhabitants of the outlying districts were cut off from the towns. No lives were lost. The damage is estimated at $300,000. The Grand canal runs through the counties of Dublin, Kildare and Kings. It proceeds west from Dublin to the Shannon river, which it joins near Banagher. The main line is seventy-nine miles long and its total length, including the numerous branches, is 165 miles.
